Friends, it's time for your Brain Massage®:

[TRUTH]

Happy Valentine's Day! I promise this show will be all about love!

Trump sends a second aircraft carrier to the Middle East, apparently intending to increase pressure on the Iranian regime—sort of a, “I’ll be watching you,” two fingers on one hand pointing at the eyes of Lady Liberty, then extending that gesture toward Iran sort of thing. I’m watching you.

The USS Abraham Lincoln and its carrier strike group is deployed to the Arabian Sea — it crossed into The U.S. Central Command is operating with destroyers and combat aircraft in the region. The USS Gerald Ford, the Navy’s largest and most advanced ship, has also been deployed to join the fleet buildup. They are patrolling the open-water operating zone south of Iran, connecting the Persian Gulf to the wider Indian Ocean. It’s one of the most strategically important maritime regions in the world, overseen by NAVCENT and the U.S. Fifth Fleet. Deployment to this region positions the American Navy to launch operations against Iran.

Iran is represented in the second Beast of Daniel’s vision of the four beasts in Daniel 7. When looking at Daniel’s prophecy concerning the Medo-Persian empire represented by the bear raised up on one side, indicating one side is higher than the other, many assume the Russian, or Median, part of that alliance is the higher shoulder of the Bear and what should be the focus. Another reason this is assumed is because of the prophecy of Gog, and Magog — almost always connected with Russia, and Meshech, or Moscow, and those with him.

However, according to Daniel's prophecy of this second kingdom found in Daniel 8, it is the Persian side of the alliance that rises above the Medes—and since the Daniel 8 prophecy has already been fulfilled, I think we should expect the Persian side of that alliance to have a very significant and perhaps even a dominate role in the fulfillment of prophecy represented by the Bear rising from the waters (the people, the masses—see Revelation 17:15) and being higher on one side.

I hope you are looking forward to enrolling in my Prophecy Study, which will launch sometime in July this year, Lord willing!

Trump truly is a three-dimensional chess player—his moves should never be seen as one-dimensional. Placing some of our most powerful naval assets at Iran's front door clearly has the intention of signaling Iran that it's in her best interests to stand down—but put this together with his promise to come to the aid of those rising up and crying for FREEDOM [Insert FREEEEDOOOOOOOMMM] will not be left hanging!

Why did Judicial Watch have to sue the DOJ to access the Butler shooting?²

After having to sue the DOJ under Pam Bondi, Judicial Watch received the first batch of Butler assassination attempt documents.

Most of the information is stuff we had already heard about. Sort of like the first release of the Epstein file documents. Is there a pattern developing here?

We had already heard about the fact that Biden's FBI and Secret Service spotted the shooter acting suspiciously, carrying bags and wearing a T-shirt with "Demolition Ranch" written on the front. One report included acknowledgment that the man was eyeballing a law enforcement sniper position. Several operators were exchanging information about this guy, including messages to and from Command, the Secret Service, the Pennsylvania State Police, and "everybody." And, that's it, folks! It didn't include the fact that a bunch of folks saw the guy on the roof and tried to get someone official sorts to notice it.

I keep seeing social media posts depicting ICE at work with the question: Is this what you voted for? Of course, I respond YES! But when I look at Bondi bungling the first Epstein files release, and then keep hearing that Judicial Watch still has to sue to get Bondi to release FOIA-covered documents, and then see that she begins by releasing only material already in the public domain—I say, NO, that's NOT what I voted for.

The new Governor of Puerto Rico signed into law a Bill that recognizes a child as a human being from conception. Way to go, Puerto Rico! Meanwhile, Newsom giggles with Planned Parenthood, and others who represent the Moloch Industry signing a bill that sends 90 million dollars of CA taxpayer money to Planned Parenthood. These wicked people degrade womanhood by championing a deed that is an absolute repudiation of what it means to be a woman: nurturing a child is a natural instinct, but these foul haters of GOD despise nature itself. Hellish, murderous, fiends—giggling at the altar of Moloch and calling their WAR ON INFANTS a battle in their war for women — when in fact they are destroying womanhood!

The head of state of the U.S. territory of Puerto Rico is ... President Trump. Their newest Governor is Jennifer Gonzalez-Colon, a Trump fan. She signed a new law recognizing unborn babies as human beings from conception. Bad Bunny is from Puerto Rico, but like the minority nonsense liberals here (*probably about 20-30%), the foul-mouthed Bad Bunny does not represent the majority of his hood.

This X-Post from Reverend Jordan Wells announcing this great news (vetted and confirmed) includes an allusion to the rumor that Puerto Rican Bad Bunny, whom we are glad his mother did not murder while in her womb, has been fined by the FCC — “Bad Bunny might be loud and liberal, but he doesn’t speak for the Island. The people — and now the law — do.” I assume he means by “the law,” the rumors that Bad Bunny has been fined $10 million by the FCC for his perverse display.

Well, actually, the FCC did look into this issue, examined the lyrics, and found the elements that would have exposed him to legal jeopardy were either “scrubbed” or “bleeped.”³ I cannot find any actions pending against Apple or Google.

So the Bad Bunny has not been fined by the FCC for indecency on public airwaves. Apple and Google have not been fined or even censured.

I didn’t watch the spectacle, but you can read the New York Post article linked in my notes and make of it what you will. The New York Post was founded by Alexander Hamilton and has maintained a good reputation for not folding to Woke of LIB-FIB pressure — although it does sometimes use a dash of National Enquirer spice, lightly, and will sometimes titivate interest with a tease of titillation. Nevertheless, the New York Post has maintained its independence from the Democratic arm of the Marxist-Socialist propaganda corps (a trip of the tongue in dishonor to Obama—remember that? the Marine Corpse?)—the word is pronounced kor, at least until the zombie spell is broken and everyone sees the MSM is, after all, nothing more than a walking, talking corpse.

But the reverend should not be too cast down. I made the exact same mistake during one of my Brain Massage® LIVE episodes—I reported that Bad Bunny got some “bad news” and repeated the same rumor—here, corrected! I feel so much better now!

Dearly beloved brothers and sisters in Iran, Lady Liberty is coming. Remember, the wheat must fall to the earth and die before it will spring up with LIFE — the TRUTH will make you FREE. Lady Liberty extends the torch of Liberty to thee!

Hold on; I’ll be right back!

Segment.02 Hello. Welcome back! I’m Dr. Jerry Scheidbach, pastor at the Lighthouse, your brain masseur, and Paul Revere’s lantern lighter, lighting the lamps in the church belfry arch, signaling the enemy is on the march—an enemy that would steal from us our liberty.

Check out this meme of Lady Liberty armed and charging all enemies of our Constitution and the Liberty Bell. Very Cool!

The SAVE AMERICA Act has 49 Republican Sponsors and at least one Democrat, Fetterman, has committed to vote for it.

JD is ready to cast the tie-breaking vote!

Now, if the Senate will get serious about protecting the integrity and sanctity of our elections, we can get this passed into law. Next, we'll have to fight it through the courts, which will certainly be used as a delaying tactic, while simultaneously squawking about needing more time to prepare for implementation. This is going to be an uphill battle all the way, but I say, take that hill. This truly is a hill worth dying on. In fact, this may well be the hill the democratic party and their RINO comrades will die on! TAKE THE HILL!

That would be a good slogan for the 2026 midterm elections: From the early 19th century (1800s), when the federal government permanently settled in Washington, D.C., the Capitol, home of our Congress, has been referred to as “The Hill.” In the 20th Century (1900s), it became common practice for journalists to refer to Congress, and or the Capitol, with this expression.

We have the Oval Office, affectionately called “The People’s House,” or “The West Wing,” but to preserve it, we MUST TAKE THE HILL.

Don't for one moment think the Demoncrats wont do everything and anything they can to steal the Mid-terms. The outrageous stuff they've already done and continue to do should tell you that they are totally ready to die on this hill.

I noticed a few old stories circulating fresh. One is the video of Lt. General McInerney, who picked up a story from some source he trusted that originated from a government contractor named Daniel Montgomery, who claimed to have worked on an election-stealing scheme called Hammer and Scorecard — Hammer was the name he said identified a supercomputer, and Scorecard was the election controlling software it used to control election outcomes. The Lt. General was no crackpot, and the likes of Sydney Powell, regarded as highly competent in her role as an attorney of some record, served as an Assistant U.S. Attorney, worked extensively in appellate cases, filed 180 published appellate decisions, and served as lead counsel in 500 federal appeals. She also expressed confidence in the Hammer and Scorecard story—however, through a labyrinthine series of dodges and subterfuge either these highly competent people were duped, something to this day they have not conceded, or the “other side” stayed sufficiently ahead of them to keep the dots in the case disconnected, a few i dots and t bars remain missing, and so a court ready case never materialized.

You’ve heard of the Dominion voting machine scandal! You know, the voting machines that could not be hacked because they cannot connect to the Internet, until evidentiary pressure collapsed that lie, and so the Dominion Guard (you know Dominion never took the lead on the attacks, except later when they decided to use law-fare to attack those who dared expose them, but used the media and the politicians they owned) — but any way, the Dominion Guard retreated to a fall back position — well, yeah, they do connect to the Internet, but they cannot be hacked — and that lasted a while until it collapsed under incontrovertible evidence, so the Dominion Guard fell back again and entrenched on another line of defense — well, yeah, they can be connected to the Internet, and yeah, they can be hacked, but they never have been and if asked why, the answer was, because that would be against the law. To which my favorite squirrel replied: [Laughing Squirrel.]

You’ve also heard the connection between Dominion and Venezuela —the mysterious vote flips sometimes occurring right before your eyes. I saw it happen while watching an election report —the advantage just magically flipped from Republican to Democrat! Amazing.

Right now, the Fulton County election case is proceeding—we were told the reason they stopped counting was flooding, which proved untrue. We were told the counting was suspended in Michigan because they were waiting for more ballots to be delivered. I don’t have time to revisit all of it, but it was so obvious the Dems were stealing the 2020 that a blind man could see it!

We are told they put up cardboard so no one could look inside while they resumed counting, this is in Fulton County, by the way, because “they were stupid.” You know, in my experience, “stupid” goes right along with “lazy,” and lazy people don’t do anything they don’t have to. So why did they think they had to go to the trouble of blocking the windows so no one could watch what they were doing inside? Pulling boxes of ballots out from under tables — the whole thing stirred up such a stink it’s gagging wisened minds till this day — almost six years later.

In truth, the 2020 election stinks more today than it did the morning after that load was dropped. If you know what I mean!

So, the last story of Lt. General McInerney has not been written, and his testimony resurfaces now while we are thinking about the SAVE Act. That’s interesting!

And another blast from the 2020 scandalous election is mentioned lately by none other than our beloved Catturd, reposting an X-post by Sassafrass_84.⁴ She opens with “Mitch McConnell was in on the staged faux insurrection.” Shows a pic of then Senate Majority Leader, Mike Shirkey, with a statement from “Conservative Twins”: WOW: Hidden cam footage captures former Michigan Senate Majority Leader Mike Shirkey dropping a bombshell about January 6. “It was all staged. Mitch McConnell wanted it to be a mess so he could secure a Trump impeachment conviction for Pelosi & Schumer.” [IBID]

Mike Shirkey was known to be an establishment Republican, some thought of him as a moderate RINO. You might remember the brouhaha that stirred over a video taken O’Keefe style of the then Senator saying the J6 business was a hoax from the beginning, all staged.

Well, I always check this sort of thing out, because I know how it is when you are dealing with snakes—lying is their thing, and these snakes often hide in conservative grass. So, before I go into this, let me say I mean no aspersions against the Cat — that's definitely Cat that knows where it's at. The general tenor of this meme is truthful.

However, after I finally battled my way to the truth, fighting through obstacles thrown up against me by AI (and I think they all use the same algorithms — by the way, watch for my newest book coming soon — MY ARGUMENTS WITH THE ALGORITHMS: Proof that AI is an undercover Democrat. You'll love it. Also look for THE RIGHT OF CONSENT: An undeniable inalienable right of man from his CREATOR. That's right, I will document the history of this principle and provide irrefutable proof that it is a Divine right clearly taught in the BIBLE. Okay, back to this.

Listen to the former Senator and pay attention to what he says.

[INSERT Senator Mike Shirkey — this meeting went on over an hour, I excerpted the pertinent remarks of Shirkey. It was a restaurant setting, lots of noise, and I put together Mikes remarks, tried to enhance the volume because the mic was not picking him up very well.]

He was asked about “The DC Thing.” He said, “That wasn't Trump's people,” twice. He said “That was all a hoax from day one. It was all prearranged.” Asked, “Prearranged?” He said, they came on separate buses, that was arranged by, you know, somebody was funding it.” He asked, “Why wasn't there more security? It's ridiculous, it was all staged. He called the DC Mayor a puppet, and then said, Mitch McConnell was in on it. He is the one that was part of the decision about how much security to have,” and said, “I think they wanted to have a mess.” He said much more, but with regard to this X-post, these are the pertinent parts of his statement.

Notice that he did not speak to Mitch McConnell's motivation, but did clearly state that Mitch was "in on the whole thing." He obviously believed it was staged for some reason, and the most reasonable assumption is that they wanted something they could use to impeach Trump, and or bar him from returning to the White House.

So, you see, the meme is truthful, but either out of ignorance, or in order to titivate the story (by the way, titivate means to make minor enhancements, used here to say the story is a tad embellished, or it might have been nothing more sinister than a statement that expressed the individual's opinion about what was said — in any case, YOU DON'T PLACE QUOTATION MARKS AROUND A STATEMENT AND ASCRIBE THAT STATEMENT TO SOMEONE WHO DID NOT MAKE THAT STATEMENT. Come on!

But here is the story here, in my opinion. Even though the former Senator later walked his statement back, apologized, and said he misspoke, that what he meant was that the allegation that Trump initiated the event was a hoax from the beginning — yet clarified, on a hot mic, meaning he did not know he was being recorded, that his apology was not intended to take back the essential points he was making in that video — you can hear it for yourself, and make up your own mind about it. But what you have here is a Senator, who had the reputation of being one of those moderate types of Republicans revealing that he believed the accusation against Trump was false, and that the riots were a set up, and that the Democrats wanted it to happen—and the only reason they would want that to happen was to blame Trump so they could destroy him personally and politically —

And my point right now is — DO NOT FORGET WHAT THEY DID, AND DON'T THINK FOR ONE MOMENT THEY WONT DO IT AGAIN, AND EVEN GO FARTHER —

The Mid Term is a HILL THEY WILL DIE ON to take the HILL, so we must marshal all our power, and rise up, and TAKE THE HILL.

Take a look at this meme. Lady Liberty has been triggered, and she's mad! Coming forward to defend our Constitution and the LIBERTY it guarantees. She is trampling down the enemies of liberty here so she can continue to hold her liberty torch high for all the world to see. Hold on, Iran, we're coming!
